Come to Margate?

This very popular seaside resort on the Isle of Thanet, rests on the most easterly point of the 'Garden of England'.

Margate is easily accessible by car, coach and train. The country's only high-speed train service, HS1, from London St Pancras to Margate takes just 90 minutes.

There are regular train and bus services, including the Thanet Loop, to the neighbouring resorts of Broadstairs (3.4 miles/5.5 km) and Ramsgate (5.3 miles/8.5 km). The City of Canterbury is just 17 miles (27.4 km) away and the Port of Dover, with cross-Channel services to mainland Europe, is 22.6 miles (36.4 km). The Eurotunnel terminal in Folkestone is 34.5 miles (55.5 km) distant.

Cyclists are always welcome in Thanet to explore the numerous cycling opportunities including the Viking Coastal Trail (Regional Cycle Network 15) – www.vikingcoastaltrail.co.uk.

Margate was one of the first English seaside destinations to start entertaining visitors to the coast for the health benefits of exhilarating sea air and salt water bathing.

As the passion and fashion for seaside fun and frivolity became more accessible with boat trips from London and the arrival of the railways, Margate became synonymous with family holiday fun, weekend escapes (including romantic liaisons) and daytrips.

Unsurprisingly, many visitors wanted to hold on to their holiday experiences and set up home on the coast. High quality estates were built in adjoining Cliftonville. Initially these were detached and semi-detached houses with gardens but were quickly followed by newly fashionable bungalows, set along wide avenues leading down to the seafront.

Cliftonville accommodated the newer residents and provided numerous guest houses and smaller private hotels for visitors to Margate. Larger hotels took pride of place high on the chalk cliffs overlooking the sea.

Visitors today soak up the sun, sands and sea with all the enthusiasm of previous generations of the bucket 'n spade brigade as well as a wealth of innovative and revived seaside pleasures alongside internationally-acclaimed exhibitions.

Along with the main town's 49,709 residents, visitors find themselves at the heart of the cultural and creative arts revolution sweeping the Kent coast.

Margate Main Sands

Beaches and bays

Paddling, rockpools and sandcastles alongside swimming and water sports ensure Margate's many beautiful bays are perfect for all ages and abilities.

Margate Main Sands, a Blue Flag Award winner, is a spacious family favourite with golden sands, children's rides and all beach facilities. Plenty of ice creams, lollies, candyfloss, cockles and whelks, and fish 'n chips are available nearby.

Walpole Bay includes a 1930s tidal pool still loved by 'wild' swimmers today. The long bay is perfect for exploring rockpools and crabbing. The bay is named in honour of the former British Prime Minister Robert Walpole.

Westbrook Bay is a Seaside Award winning family beach officially designated for water sports including water-skiing.

Artistic impressions

JMW Turner's time living with his landlady and companion Mrs Sophia Booth in Margate made a lasting impression on his work as he rose to the challenges of capturing the qualities of light. Turner Contemporary now stands where he used to live. Turner (1775-1851) wrote: 'The loveliest skies in Europe are over the Isle of Thanet'.

Tracey Emin, one of the famous Britartists, grew up in Thanet and now has a studio in Margate. She announced her affection for the town in pink neon: I Never Stopped Loving You. TS Eliot (1888 – 1965) wrote large sections of The Waste Land while convalescing in Margate. David Watkin (1925 – 2008) the award-winning cinematographer was born in Margate. He worked with such directors as Ken Russell and Franco Zeffirelli. His work can be seen in such classics as Out of Africa and Chariots of Fire.

Famous entertainers with Blue Plaques to be discovered in Margate include Eric Morecambe, Hattie Jacques and John Le Mesurier. Download a copy of the Margate Heritage Trail at www.visitthanet.co.uk.

Roots, revival and regeneration

Once a small coastal village, Margate's development as a health and pleasure destination and then into one of the most popular seaside holiday spots in the country led to rapid expansion along the seafront and inland.

Early growth was fuelled by the need for accommodation, not only for visitors, but all the people working in the tourism industry and everyone keen to acquire permanent and retirement homes for all-year enjoyment of the coast and its stunning landscapes.

Thanks to public and private investment, including the arrival of the internationally-acclaimed gallery at Turner Contemporary in 2011 and the re-opening of Dreamland in 2015, the resort is once again a leading, must-see UK destination meeting the needs of weekenders, day trippers and classic family holiday fun enthusiasts. Today, taking advantage of high speed trains, many Londoners have relocated to the town to enjoy its cultural buzz and stunning coast.

Luxury and themed boutique hotels, stylish B&Bs and guest houses and a range of restaurants have opened to welcome the new generation of visitors.

The golden sands of Margate and the rockpools of Walpole Bay promise hours of entertainment in the fresh air while the energetic can test their skills in a wide range of water sports, coastal walking routes and cycle paths.

Taking in an exhibition at Turner Contemporary can be followed by gentle strolls through the cobbled streets of Margate Old Town with galleries and workshops, vintage and retro shops, plus a wide range of contemporary eateries and cafés.

Visitors can regularly sit back and marvel at the dramatic sunsets that so inspired JMW Turner when he lived and painted in the town, before selecting from an excellent choice of fine dining venues and exploring the numerous entertainments on offer at the town's theatres and venues.

COMING SOON

The PrintWorks Margate is an innovative mixed-use studio in the heart of the town's expanding art district.
www.printworksmargate.com

The Libertines rock band is opening a new hotel/studio in Margate in a five-storey, ten-bedroom Victorian building overlooking the sea and bandstand – The Albion Rooms. A full opening date and launch party is to be announced to coincide with the launch with their latest album in the summer 2018. Progress of the innovative project can be seen at www.thelibertines.com.

In 2019 Turner Contemporary will host the Turner Prize. One of the best-known prizes for the visual arts in the world, the Turner Prize aims to promote public debate around new developments in contemporary British art. Every other year, the prize leaves Tate Britain and is presented at a venue outside London.

Victoria Pomery OBE, Director of Turner Contemporary said: "This is a truly transformative opportunity for Margate to be part of something which invites conversations on an international scale, connecting our audiences to outstanding contemporary art and inspiring future generations of creative talent."

Dreamland is one of Britain's oldest surviving amusement parks and has been an essential part of Margate's identity for nearly 100 years.

Thanet District Council's efforts to secure the site has unlocked significant regeneration works and, along with the Heritage Lottery Fund, the Dreamland Trust and other public organisations, has helped secure £18m of public funding. It is likely that the site's jewels – the Grade II* listed Scenic Railway; the Grade II* listed cinema complex and the Grade II listed menagerie cages - would have further degenerated without this intervention.

Alongside the operator's new and rejuvenated offer which opened on 26 May 2017, the council has undertaken the next phase of redevelopment to restore the front of the cinema building and bring the iconic Sunshine Café back to life.

Margate Caves are set to open to the public in 2019 following a long campaign to develop a new tourist attraction in the town. They were closed in 2004 following a structural survey. Since 2011, campaigners determined to save the caves have gained major funding from the Big Lottery Fund and Heritage Lottery Fund, boosted by a crowdfunding initiative. TS Eliot shelter

Did you know?

- Margate was originally Meregate (meaning marsh gate) because, until modern times, the town lay between two tidal creeks.
- Margate was one of the first seaside resorts, the first to have donkey rides and the first to introduce deckchairs.
- Margate was one of the pioneers to offer bathing facilities and with its proximity to London was a perfect resort for the city's middle classes to enjoy the horse drawn 'machines' which offered privacy while bathing.
- The dome in the Shell Grotto acts as an accurate solar calendar.
- Margate's Theatre Royal is Kent's oldest theatre.
- Comedian Eric Morecambe (1926-1984) held his wedding reception at the Bull's Head, Market Place.
- George Bernard Shaw (1856-1950), regarded by many as the greatest English dramatist since Shakespeare, visited Margate in 1907. Arriving on the Granville Express, he went straight to the Theatre Royal to coach a new actor appearing in his play John Bull's Other Island.
- Dante Gabriel Rossetti (1828-1882), one of the founders of the pre-Raphaelite brotherhood, moved to Birchington, near Margate, in 1882 hoping to recover from a serious illness. He died soon after his arrival. His grave is marked by a Celtic cross by the south door at All Saints Church, Birchington.
- TS Eliot (1888-1965), Karl Marx (1818-1883) and Ralph Vaughan Williams (1872-1958) all cited their time in Margate as being pivotal in the creation of their most famous works –The Waste Land, Das Kapital and The Lark Ascending respectively.
- Margate pioneered mixed bathing in the early 1900s.
- Samuel Pepys used to get his colleagues drunk on 'Northdown Ale' imported from Margate.
- The most famous self portrait of JMW Turner, aged 24, will appear on the £20 note by 2020.

- The Beatles topped the bill and played for six consecutive nights at the Winter Gardens in July 1963. Their debut album, Please, Please Me, had been released a few months earlier and at the top of the charts for many weeks. They were being mobbed by fans so to escape at the end of their shows they used a little-known tunnel leading to a side entrance. During World War II, cells leading off the tunnel were used to hold and interrogate German prisoners of war – usually pilots who had bailed out over Thanet.
- Self-styled nobleman 'Lord' George Sanger was a showman, circus proprietor and legend in his lifetime. He founded the Hall-by the-Sea in Margate (now part of the Dreamland complex) which was a combination of pleasure gardens, zoo and entertainment centre. His burial place in Margate Cemetery is marked by a striking horse statue and can be seen on a Margate Cemetery Tour.
- The Margate Museum of today, in the busy Old Town, was the magistrates' court until 1972. It hosted two hearings marking high points of moral panics concerning the sale of saucy postcards which were banned as a result. In 1964 the magistrates were busy again after Mods and Rockers came to the town over the Whitsun Weekend. Their behaviour led to press outrage and public outcry condemning gang warfare and the battle of the beaches.
- A Royal Naval Air Service Station, used by seaplanes and land planes, was opened at St Mildred's Bay, Westgate, at the start of WWI. The site was soon the scene of several night accidents. As a result, in the winter of 1915-16 aircraft started to use open farmland at Manston for emergency landings. Shortly afterwards, Manston officially developed into a Royal Naval Station. In WWII it became a frontline Battle of Britain airfield.

BROADSTAIRS

Broadstairs succeeds in more than satisfying the needs of today's short break, weekend visitors and day trippers who flock to its beaches. Yet the coastal honeypot retains all the charms and features of a traditional seaside destination.

Morelli's, the quintessential 1950s ice cream parlour, still stands at the top of the chalk cliffs overlooking the flowers planted along the promenade and the gently sloping sands and rock pools of Viking Bay.

Charles Dickens, one of the town's most famous visitors and residents, would easily recognise the narrow streets and flint walls in the historic town and the narrow streets winding down to the small harbour.

Throughout the summer, demand is high for the town's many guesthouses and B&Bs, self-catering houses and apartments.

As a resort, and a long-standing favourite destination for people of all ages and interests, Broadstairs more than holds its own and is thriving in the 21st century.

- Seven sand-filled, family-friendly beaches and bays, four with Blue Flag or Seaside Awards
- Stunning chalk cliffs including caves and the much-photographed stacks at Botany Bay
- Closest surfing beaches to London and the best in the southeast
- Timeless seaside charm

- Traditional fishing harbour, cobbled squares and narrow streets
- Vibrant nightlife economy and exciting eateries
- Classic ice cream parlours and coffee shops
- Clifftop gardens and bandstand
- Clifftop and foreshore strolls, cycling and golf
- Blues Bash (February), Spring Food Fair (Easter), Dickens Festival (June), Folk Week and Water Gala (August), Wheels and Fins (September), Broadstairs Food Festival (September/October).

A Broadstairs press pack is available, see back cover.

Ramsgate Tunnels

RAMSGATE

Ramsgate, a favourite seaside destination of Princess Victoria, is an architectural jewel in the coastal crown of Thanet.

The town's long maritime history as a port, with the country's only Royal Harbour, and its thriving modern marina have contributed to the development of a relaxing waterfront with bustling bistros and restaurants.

The resort's fine weather, superb sands, sea air and stunning views from the cliffs alongside elegant side streets, independent shops, galleries and seaside entertainments add even more flavour to Ramsgate's popular café culture.

- UK's only Royal Harbour
- Golden sands, famous family-friendly beaches, boat trips and clifftop walks
- Modern marina filled with luxury yachts
- Augustus Pugin's house, The Grange, and St. Augustine's Church
- Elegant Georgian, Regency and Victorian architecture with hundreds of listed buildings
- Ramsgate Tunnels built to protect civilians during WWII
- Active Ramsgate itinerary including two canoe trails and coastal walks

- Continental café culture along the south-facing waterfront
- Fine eateries serving local produce including seafoods
- Retro and contemporary boutique hotels, guesthouses, B&Bs and self-catering
- Events include Great Bucket and Spade Run (June), Ramsgate Week, an alternative to Cowes, including Ramsgate Festival (July) and Heritage Open Days (September).

A Ramsgate press pack is available, see back cover.

THANET VILLAGES

A short distance from the coast, visitors discover a treasure chest of delights in Thanet's traditional villages.

Popular visitor gems include:

- Birchington and Westgate – Coastal villages with Blue Flag beaches at Minnis Bay, West Bay and St. Mildred's Bay.
- Quex Park Estate and the Powell-Cotton Museum, Birchington, www.quexpark.co.uk has a wide range of attractions including the internationally acclaimed museum, restored gardens, activities for children and opportunities to enjoy the best of Kent produce. Full and varied calendar of events.
- The Spitfire and Hurricane Memorial Museum, at Manston, www.spitfiremuseum.org.uk now has a Spitfire cockpit simulator so visitors can experience the thrills of wartime flight. Booking is essential for the simulator.
- RAF Manston History Museum at the former wartime airfield.
- Minster Show www.minstershow.org.uk is celebrating its 132nd anniversary in July 2018. Minster and neighbouring villages work together to present action-packed entertainment, celebrating the success of flower and vegetable growers, cooks, jam and preserve makers and more.
- St. Mary the Virgin Church, Minster – A large roman catholic church with 18 fine medieval misericords which are amongst the best in south east England.
- Minster Abbey at Minster www.minster-in-thanet.org.uk/abbey is possibly the oldest inhabited house in the country near where St. Augustine led the first Christian mass in Britain.
- Monkton Nature Reserve and Observatory www.monkton-reserve.org offers many attractions including trails, UK's first artificial bat cave, fossils and visitor centre.
- Birchington and Westgate – coastal villages with Blue Flag beaches at Minnis Bay, West Bay, and St. Mildred's Bay.
- St. Mary the Virgin Church – A large Norman church with later additions and some unusual architecture. 18 fine medieval misericords, which are amongst the best in south east England.

Margate, Broadstairs, Ramsgate – why visit?

Londoners have been escaping to the Isle of Thanet for more than 200 years for the relaxed seaside vibe, brilliant sandy beaches, fresh sea air and romantic Turner skies.

Here, at the very edge of the Garden of England, three Georgian and Victorian resorts, each with its own distinctive character – Margate, Broadstairs and Ramsgate – cluster around the bays at the far end of the peninsula.

There is a retro feel to these harbour towns, with their remarkable 18th and 19th century architecture, their classic seaside heritage and kitsch, their eclectic attractions and live arts and music venues. And there is a variety of independent places to shop, eat, drink and stay.

Miles of low chalk cliffs edge the peninsula, sheltering a string of secluded, unspoiled sandy bays. Chalk rockpools, chalk stacks and rare chalk reefs teem with wildlife. These are also the closest surfing beaches to the capital city and a popular choice for south east boarders.

Artists, writers and musicians have long been inspired by this almost-island and continue to be drawn here. Turner said Thanet had 'the loveliest skies in all Europe' while, for Dickens, Broadstairs was 'the freshest, freest place'. Meanwhile, Tracey Emin declares in pink neon on Margate seafront: 'I never stopped loving you'.

The Isle's a historic landing place steeped in symbolism for the story of Britain. The first Saxons, Hengist and Horsa, arrived and settled here; the Romans launched their invasion of Britain, led by Julius Caesar, from Pegwell Bay; and St. Augustine first stepped on these shores on his way to nearby Canterbury.

Now, with Turner Contemporary, the return of the iconic pleasure park Dreamland, reimagined for the 21st century, and high-speed trains from the capital, new generations are discovering this original seaside escape.
